Will Coleman III

Regarded as one of the top event riders in America, Will has carefully produced and competed more than a dozen horses at the highest levels of eventing. He has been named annually to the USEF's High Performance Training List for ten years, and most recently represented his country at the 2012 Olympic Games. With two top-five finishes at four-star level competitions and multiple three-star wins on a variety of horses, Will has been successfully competing at the highest levels of eventing since he was 19 years old. Will is also the only American to have ever won the Bramham European Under-25 CCI3* Championships in the United Kingdom, a feat which he accomplished at 20 years of age.
